WOMEN ARE MANGLED BY BOMB GANGS

BELF BELFAST. — (Associated Press) — Terrorists who had remained under cover all of St. Patrick's Day, resumed their activities today. Shortly after the curfew hour, a news vendor proceeding homeward on his bicycle, was shot thru the breast, and a man was shot and killed in Newtonards-rd.

A bomb was thrown in Thompson-st, the missile wounding several persons. A girl who was wounded by the bomb, died after being taken to the hospital.

Newtonards-rd was in a turmoil until after the breakfast hour.

Two men dashed into Thompson-st, in the Sinn Fein district, and threw a bomb thru an upstairs window of a small dwelling where an elderly woman, Rose McGreevy, and her niece, Mary Mullan, were sleeping. Pedestrians who forced an entrance, found Mrs. McGreevy seriously wounded and her niece mortally hurt, one of the woman's legs having been blown nearly off.

The two women were taken to a hospital where Miss Mullan died shortly afterward.

Early this morning the body of a man was found in Clermont Lane with a bullet thru the head.

WAGE BODY CAN'T AVERT MINE STRIKE

NEW YORK. — (Associated Press.)—The arbitration committee of eight of anthracite coal miners and operators, charged with the task of negotiating a wage agreement in time to avert a suspension of the mines April 1, today reduced the "margin of safety" to ten days deciding to delay their first session until next Tuesday.

President John L. Lewis of the United Workers, a member of the committee, announced that the delay was due to desire of labor men to consult their organization and amass data concerning the wage controversy, before opening the conference.

It is generally agreed that the terms of a new contract cannot possibly be drawn and agreed upon within the ten days.

Negotiations of previous agreements have required from a month to seven weeks, they point out, and it is probable that the suspension of mines, slated to take place at the expiration of the present contract, April 1, will continue for at least three weeks.

Operators expressed a belief that a new agreement would be drawn and effective before the consuming public began to feel a coal shortage, as the supplies on hand would be sufficient for a considerably longer period.

PRISON BARS OHIOAN SENT UP FOR LIFE

MARION, Ohio. — (Associated Press.)—Judge Grant F. Mouser declared today that he would not sentence Edward Baker, 15 years old, to the penitentiary following the refusal of the Mansfield reformatory officials to admit him to that institution. Baker was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Charles J. Boone, dairy clerk, here, the night of February 8.

Judge Mouser stated officials at the Mansfield reformatory have the legal right to transfer Baker to the penitentiary but that he will not take any action in the matter.

Baker was refused admittance to the Mansfield institution on the ground that the law only permits the admission of first offenders between the ages of 30 and 60-years and then only when they are subject to parole.

Court officials here says the situation is unprecedented in the annals of Ohio courts.

FIUME. — (Associated Press) — Pending the convocation of a constituent assembly today for the election of a new government in succession to the deposed Zanella administration, Fiume was kept in a state of siege under military orders.

A court martial has been instituted.

The step was considered necessary to the application of the treaty of Rapallo, which charges Italy with the policing of Fiume. In sending troops into the city, it was added Italy aimed only to insure the election of a legal government capable of maintaining order.

MINNEAPOLIS.—Mr. and Mrs. Del Farrar, the first couple to serve on a jury in Minneapolis, disagreed in balloting but Mrs. Farrar finally won her husband over and the jury convicted Asher Rosenberg on a theft charge in district court here yesterday.

"It was not a family affair at all," said Mr. Farrar in discussing the case today. "Mrs. Farrar argued with me about it, of course, as did other members of the jury. Mrs. Farrar was certain from the very first that the defendant was guilty, but I was not so sure about it, so I voted for acquittal until certain points had been cleared up."

DECISION ON BONUS BILL DUE TODAY

WASHINGTON. — (Associated Press.)—Speaker Gillett was to decide today at a conference with house Republican leaders whether he would entertain on Monday a motion to consider the soldiers' bonus bill under a suspension of the rules.

Upon his return here last night from Florida, where he was the guest of President Harding, the speaker said he was not inclined to look with favor upon such a procedure but added that he was open to argument. He declared that he had no message from the president for house leaders regarding the bonus bill.

Mr. Gillett expects to leave tonight for Springfield, Mass., where he is to speak tomorrow afternoon on the treaties growing out of the arms conference, but said it was his intention to be back in Washington in time to preside over the house session on Monday.

Representative Kitchin of North Carolina, the Democratic house leader who visited the capitol yesterday for the first time in nearly a year expected to confer again today with Democrats on the ways and means committee to complete the draft of a minority report opposing some features of the bonus measure. Whether this report would be submitted to the house today or on Monday depended on the decision of Republican leaders as to the time that the bill would be called up on the floor.

Should Speaker Gillett decline to permit the bill to come up under a suspension of the rules, the program of those in charge of the bonus measure would be left somewhat in the air. There have been reports that a majority party conference might be called to consider procedure but in advance of their meeting with Mr. Gillett leaders would not say that they had this in mind.

DAVIS URGED TO RETIRE BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON.—(United Press). —President Harding has brought pressure to bear on Governor Davis of Ohio to retire from politics with his formal announcement tonight, it was learned today.

The recent visit of Rud K. Hynicka, Cincinnati leader, to the White House, followed by a conference he had with Governor Davis in Columbus, was in accordance with the president's wishes for party harmony in Ohio, a reliable congressional authority here told the United Press today.

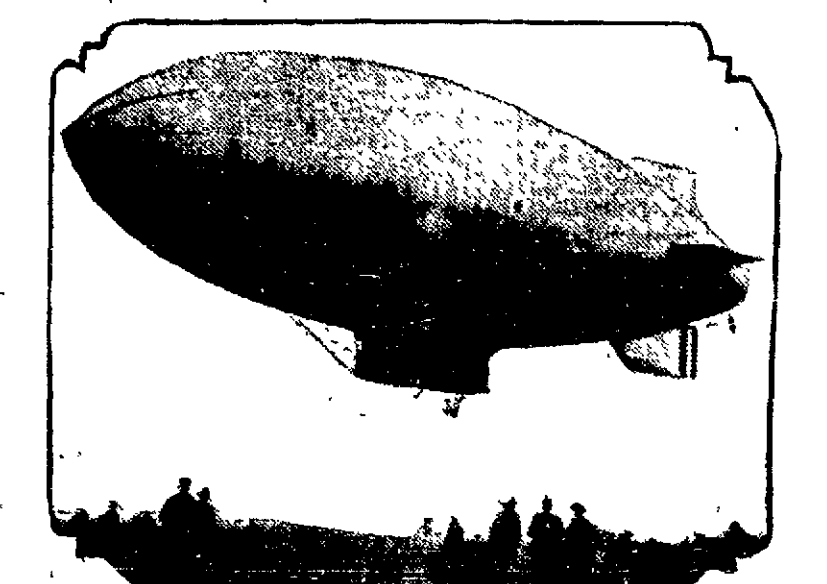

If Governor Davis decides not to seek re-election, Carmi Thompson, of Cleveland, will be the party choice for the gubernatorial nomination. It is understood and Congressman Fess of Yellow Springs, will receive support for the senate.

Party leader here expressed confidence Hynicka would support Thompson and Fess, abandoning his efforts in favor of Walter F. Brown, of Toledo, for the senate and Senator Willis and Attorney General Daugherty will make peace with other factions, it is understood.

COURT'S DECISION BLOCKS PATH OF DIVORCE SEEKERS

NEW YORK.—(Associated Press). —The adage, "Marry in haste and Repeat at Leisure," has teeth put in it by a decision of the appellate division of the supreme court, which, it is said, it will prevent New Yorkers, wishing to rid themselves of matrimonial ties, going to Reno, Nevada, and other places to obtain legal relief.

The decision makes permanent an injunction granted by Supreme Court Justice Donnelly last July restraining Archibald B. Gwathmey, a New York broker, from prosecuting an action stated in Florida to obtain a divorce from Isabelle C. Gwathmey.

The appellate decision, rendered by unanimous vote, holds that Gwathmey's change of residence was a fraud upon his wife's matrimonial rights, as they were married in New York and had their legal residence here.

The decision is interpreted to mean that persons married in New York state or maintaining their matrimonial residence here cannot go outside the state and set up a residence that will be recognized as legal.

"This decision sounds the death knell for fake divorces," said Edmund L. Mooney, counsel for Mrs. Gwathmey, when apprised of the court's findings. "It also goes a long way toward solving a national situation which has given rise to much agitation for a national divorce law. Any one may go into the supreme court of New York now, when an action is started against him or her in another state, and get an injunction."

HUSBAND AND WIFE BURN TO DEATH

AUGUSTA, Ga. — (United Press). —Two persons were burned to death when fire early today gutted the Grand Opera House here, causing a property loss estimated at $30,000.

Incendiarism is believed to have been the cause of the blaze.

GAMBLING POOL BASED ON WEATHER DISCOVERED

ST. LOUIS. — Police today announced they had discovered the existence here of a gambling pool based upon weather temperatures with the confiscation of 1,000 tickets which were found in the possession of William Gardner, a salesman, who is under arrest. The tickets were priced at 25 cents and the prizes for winning numbers ranged from $1 to $2,000, according to the police, who said the lucky numbers were determined by taking the last numbers of a few selected temperature readings. Gardner's arrest followed the delivery by him of tickets to a patrolman in plain clothes.

DIES WHILE SHE DRINKS WITH PARTY

BOSTON, Mass. — (Associated Press) — The setting for the suicide by poison of Pauline Virginia Clark was a subject of police inquiry today. The authorities had established, they said, that the young woman, who as a model a few years ago was declared by sculptors to be almost perfect in form, ended her life while drinking with a group of friends in her apartment.

These friends included Bayard Wharton of Philadelphia, a student at Harvard College, and Otto Haldor Larson of Christiania, Norway, a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Wharton has given his account of the tragedy, but the police say Larson disappeared soon after efforts to resuscitate Miss Clark failed.

COLLAPSES WHILE EATING

Medical Examiner Magrath said Miss Clark has displayed a bottle to a young woman friend several days ago, saying there was enough poison in it to "kill an army." When she was thru with life, she said, she would use it.

It was early in the morning when the young woman, sitting with Wharton and Larson, while they munching sandwiches and drank collapsed the former said. She made no remarks indicating her intention to take her life he added and so far as known died without making a statement.

Other members of the party who have been questioned by the police were Robert Christie described as a western business man Joseph Tory of Worcester and Miss Apple Coskley also of Worcester.

M'GANNON AGAIN TO APPEAL

CLEVELAND. — (Associated Press) — William M. McGannon, former chief justice of municipal court, is to make one last effort to escape imprisonment in the penitentiary, following the affirming by the appellate court yesterday of his sentence of from one to ten years in the penitentiary on a charge of perjury in connection with his two trials for the murder of Harold C. Kagy.

In the first trial the jury failed to agree but in the second trial McGannon was acquitted.

Promises were made by his relatives early today that the former chief justice would surrender himself to the sheriff and immediately after that, it was said, steps would be taken to get his petition for a rehearing of his case by the state supreme court in shape to present to the state's highest court.

Attorneys for McGannon today pointed out that the ex-jurist can obtain a thirty day stay of execution by filing notice of his intention to appeal.

BOSSSES, TOILERS IN CLOSE TOUCH

Situation Existing at Philadelphia Described by Forbes

EMPLOYERS, WORKERS HAPPY

Community Spirit Built up Between the Two

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) — We all want to get more out of life, don't we? We would rather get along harmoniously than have to quarrel. We would rather be on friendly than unfriendly terms with those we are thrown into contact with.

This applies to employer as well as to employees.

Why is it that the feeling between the working class and the employing class is kindly in certain places and bitter in other places?

This week, I visited Philadelphia's great manufacturing district and met the members of its board of trade. Here are some of the things I was told concerning the relations between workers and employers there and the conditions existing among the people:

The majority of the homes—rather humble homes, it is true they are—throughout the working-class section, are owned outright by the workers who live in them.

Building and loan associations abound all thru the district and are patronized to an extent known hardly anywhere else in America.

The great majority of the workers are stable, dependable, permanent, continuing with the same company year after year.

Labor troubles have always been phenomenally few.

The central meeting place for the workers, as well as for the board of trade and for every business organization, is maintained chiefly by the employers, who welcome the holding of trade union meetings there and, in fact, encourage the workers to meet in the congenial building provided, rather than have them seek meeting places in poolrooms, cafes, or the like.

Newspapers, periodicals, books, games, classes of all kinds, etc., are provided, and the employers take an active interest in all the proceedings.

A community spirit has been developed among the employers as well as among the residents, nearly all workers employed in the many neighboring plants. The employers get together periodically and talk over, not only business matters, but activities calculated to enhance the well-being of the local population.

Something of the old relationship which used to exist between employers and their people still exists in most of the local business concerns. Many of the workers, employed at the same place for many years, are known well by their employers, and there has been preserved that feeling of personal and mutual respect which no longer is common in most industrial centers where the labor turnover is appalling.

Without thought of flattery, I can sincerely say that I have rarely seen a finer lot of men than those I met at an informal midday lunch there. Judging by their looks, I would say that the ratio of happiness among these Philadelphia business men, mostly industrialists is greater than in most cities. They lacked that tense, nervous, hard expression which is all too prevalent among the executives of large industrial works today. I did not talk with one who did not manifest interest in the community and pride in the amicable relationships existing between employers and employees.

Now, if this busy industrial center, comprising such plants as the Stetson hat factories and Gramps, has been able to develop such conditions, why could not the leaders in other industrial centers do the same? The conditions now existing have not been attained without effort, without sacrifice, sustained effort on the part of the local employers. In other words, it has cost time and money and consideration to build up this spirit of mutuality, of goodwill, of community pride. It didn't just "happen." It cost thought and effort to cause it to happen. Ask any of these Philadelphia employers whether the results have been worth the price paid, and I feel sure the reply will be "yes."

As civilization advances, it is becoming more and more realized by decent employers that there is not much fun in running a business which is conducted amidst an atmosphere of ill-will and distrust and hostility, an atmosphere where an employer feels impelled to avoid rather than rub shoulders with his work people. Nor does the humane employer of today feel totally indifferent concerning the living conditions of his folks. It is becoming recognized that it is not feasible for an employer to be very much happy if he knows that his workers are unhappy, dissatisfied, bitter.

If any employer wants to get more information I would suggest that he get in touch with the secretary of the Kensington Board of trade, Philadelphia.

PERILS OF MARRIAGE

It takes nerve to marry these days, says an Omaha minister. He confides that, whenever he unites a couple in the holy bonds of matrimony he looks at the groom and thinks to himself, "Sir, you are a sportsman, tried and true."

Each generation in the past has had the same idea about their particular time. So will all future generations.

As a matter of fact, it requires less nerve to shoulder family responsibilities today than ever before.

Civilization is a featherbed.

Economic problems are easier to meet now than in the past. We only imagine they are harder.

Travel back, in imagination, to your ancestor, the caveman. To begin with, he had to win his bride by fighting a rival.

The lover with the strongest muscles, sharpest teeth or longest-handled war club emerged alive and claimed the bride.

After marriage, father had to protect his family against raiding, murderous outlaws and monster beasts that modern man encounters only in nightmares and delirium tremens.

Oh, yes, it took less nerve to marry in those days!

Go back even as short a period as 50 years, to the terrible panic that followed the Civil War. It took real nerve to marry in those days with the country disorganized, infested with outlaws, and the average person about $10 from the breadline.

In fiction and in history, you can still read of the hardships endured by the pioneers who settled the mountain districts and crossed the plains in prairie schooners.

A young couple in those days thought nothing of venturing into the uncharted wilderness with only an axe, a rifle, a bundle of bedding, copper cooking utensils, an iron kettle and maybe a luxury like a clock or horse or cow.

They got along all right, too—conquered the barren wilderness and handed it down to their children in the form of fertile fields and wooded clearings.

Real folks, those. Get the old family album out of the attic and look at their tin-types. Compared with the past generations, even the poorest of modern brides and grooms have an easy time.

The trouble is, young folks today "want to start where the old folks left off." When they set up house for themselves, they want a house full of furniture and a 1922 model car.

Civilization, the featherbed, has accustomed us to soft ways of living. That's why most of us imagine that it takes Spartan nerve to brave the economic problems of married life in modern times.

Prosperity, in all countries, is a matter of buying power, not of the amount of money the average man can get.

Think in terms of buying power instead of face value of money, and you are a sound economist.

YOUR IMAGINATION

THE prehistoric monster, reported prowling in the Patagonian swamps, is described as not more than 40 feet long, with lengthy neck and tail on an elephant-sized body.

If captured, many would pay $5 to see it. The financial possibilities are enough to bring P. T. Barnum and Tody Hamilton, his master press agent, back from the dead.

The blue whale, largest creature on earth, is 90 feet long and weighs 75 tons at maturity. It is several times as large as the Patagonian monster, yet few would pay 10 cents to see it in the ocean where it exists by thousands.

From this, learn that life is boring, that people are interested in the unusual, the exceptional.

Offer people something they haven't got, or do the old thing in a unique way, and you can name your own price.

BARNUM'S circus had wonderful horses doing the heavy work outside the tent. Few except farmers gave them a second glance.

The crowd, however, fought to get into the sideshow to see "A horse with its head where its tail ought to be." That promised the unusual, something to break the monotony. In exchange for their dimes, the spectators merely saw a horse hitched with its tail in the manger.

They "took it good-naturedly," for the experience gave them what they were after, tho in unexpected form—a good laugh.

ARE you a student of psychology—human nature? If so, much food for thought in a blue whale arousing less interest than the smaller Patagonian lizard-monster.

Man is most curious about things that do not exist, or that he doubts the existence of. The things that excite us most usually are imaginary.

How often have you become "all hot up" about some imaginary thing, only to find that it doesn't exist, that you heard the facts incorrectly or had the wrong idea?

The appeal of imagination is so strong that people strain their gullibility, attempting to turn the imaginary into the real.

Be thankful for that. It is what makes progress. Man learned to walk on his hind legs, and gradually turned his fore legs into arms, according to evolutionists.

That was an achievement. But a few men among the many imagined they could fly like a bird. That imagination has been turned into fact—the flying machine.

REAL PROSPERITY

THE number of marks that in 1914 bought a good winter overcoat in Berlin now buys only the velvet collar for it. Before the war 5000 marks was a comfortable yearly income for a German of the middle classes. Now an ordinary carpet for a small room costs that much.

'ROUND LIMA HOUR BY HOUR

BY OH, OH, JACKENRIM

A Page from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter (St. Patrick's Day)—Up with the sun, and donned my Erin-green tie. This day, 25 years ago I started life anew. For my then savings, my top-coat and the hunting-case watch my poor father gave me at majority, I rushed in the solar-plexus that Red Bohemian Gentleman Jim at Carson City. It is a day of memory in my wretched existence. And the morning after I landed in Lima, started at scratch, and have been scratching ever since.

So downstairs, to a bit of fruit and a poached egg; and finishing my coffee was much taxed to have George bring in prunes for breakfast. Whereat we had words, and a happy make-up, the usual routine of household etiquette. Reading in the paper about the police car that turned out and burglarized the Pennsylvania safety gates by breaking into 'em. Strolled up to Pearl street, and saw the tree where the Bobbie lost his spare-tire. Now how could he hit the gates and the tree in the same accident, and the tree and the gates a block apart. I wish I were a Sherlock Holmes. It puzzles me, mightily.

To the post, and greeted by a note from the Ohio Society of New York advising my old friend, Sam Fess, will be the orator at the annual dinner. And noted, too, that Ogden Reid, whose blood flows back to Cedarville, Ohio, is the new President thereof. Out and spoke in fine friendliness to E. A. Dean, the popular underwriter, and saluted F. D. Carpenter, the traction genius. In time to see an Ebling delivery chauffeur try a collision with a Lima Storage company freighter, and made it, didn't phase the freighter, but Henry may sell some new parts. And he needs the money for D. T. & I. roadbed. Streets cleared as Chief Mack and his fire fighters make a west end dash, to put out a night fire by a society woman's cigarette. To lunch at the club and joined up with Walter Jackson, the bar-tender, he wearing gumboots in our annual opening of the golf links for amateurs. But tarried a moment to view with keen pleasure the pretty greenery in Blum's west window, honoring the day when snakes were driven from my ancestral home.

In the evening to dine at a hot-off joint where they stack 'em and give extra coffee in the saucers. Only one casualty, and that the waiter's fault, thru mixing a kitchen knife with the eating cutlery. Thence to learn "What Men Want" and they didn't tell half of it, dearie; not half of it. So home and to bed.

MOTHER'S RAG CARPET

(BY DR. WM. E. BARTON)

My mother made a rag carpet. The rags were saved for several years, and included scraps from all the garments of all the children. They were washed, sorted, cut in proper width and given to us children to sew, and to end.

There were three kinds, black, white or hit-or-miss. So far as I recall, the hit-or-miss never lit or was expected to do so. It was made of scraps of calico garments. What has become of calico?

I remember that the girls never had much faith in the sewing done by the boys. They accused us of rolling our balls loosely to make them seem larger.

While we sewed, mother read aloud to us. She read "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and the novels of Walter Scott and other literature of the period.

Then came a day for drying rags. A neighbor woman who had skill in that work came to help mother. There was red and there was blue and there was green. Then they took some of the blue and dipped in the green, and it came out yellow.

It was a wondrous process. Then all the rags were gathered up and sent to a weaver, and we waited an eternity for the carpet to come back. Then it was measured, cut, and fitted to the "front room" with nice, clean straw under it, that crunched under the feet for weeks, and we had to clean our feet unusually well before stepping on it.

Every woman in the neighborhood knew all about that carpet while it was in the making and came in to see it after it was down and comment upon it. It was a proud day for mother and for all of us.

What a bond of family interest that carpet was! It was an outward and visible sign of the unity of home life; it was almost sacramental in its influence.

That rag-rug you have in your home, madame, you bought at an art store.

You do not know anything about rag carpets.

The rag carpet which mother made was not simply a floor-covering; it was an expression of something which I should greatly like to see more of in the American home—mutual effort and family interest in a common task, the common enjoyment of achievement.

ALWAYS TIRED NO AMBITION

Nervous and Dizzy, Everything Seemed to Worry Me. How I Got Well

Larwill, Indiana.—"My back was so bad I could not do my washing. I was always tired out and had no ambition, was nervous and dizzy and everything seemed to worry me and I had awful pains in my right side. I felt badly about four years and could not do my work as I should have been doing. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised so much and it did so many people good that I began to take it myself. I am feeling fine now and every one tells me they never saw me looking so well. I live on a farm, do all my work, and have three little girls to take care of. I am recommending this medicine to my friends and know it will help them if they use it like I do." —Mrs. HERBERT LONG, R. R. 3, Box 7, Larwill, Indiana.

Many women keep about their work when it is a great effort. They are always tired out and have no ambition. When you are in this condition give it prompt attention.

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it is especially adapted to correct such troubles, as it did for Mrs. Long.

Street Paving Legislation Before
City Commission Monday

Absence of two members of the city commission and Manager C. A.
Bingham, may delay the financing of sewer work in five streets, and hold the work up for from two to three weeks, it was stated Saturday.
An ordinance providing for the necessary finances will come before the city commission Monday. While three members constitute a quorum, it is feared that they may not consider any legislation in the absence of members Cunningham and Jones.
Engineer Vaughn C. Miller is especially anxious that the legislation be passed Monday, in order that his department may start work at once.
The commission recently authorized the city manager to lay sewers in a number of streets, with city labor.
Opening of the work means bread and butter on the table in many Lima homes. Miller also wants to start early, as there is a large program of work to be put over this year. A great deal of it is left over from the 1931 program. The financing legislation is ready for passage.
Bingham, B. F. Darling, and the two commissioners left on the Manhattan Limited for the east. Saturday the party visited Allentown, Pa., where a disposal plant using a process of sewage reduction by oxidation was inspected.
From Allentown the party will to other points in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.
It is highly improbable that the party can complete the trip and be present for the meeting of the commission Monday.
The streets in which sewers are to be laid are:
Leland-ave., three stretches in Hazel-ave, Third-st., W. Wayne-st and W. Spring-st.

TRAFFIC ROUNDUP GOES ON; EIGHT MORE TAKEN

Police continued their traffic roundup Friday night, four alleged traffic violators being taken. They will appear Monday in criminal court.
They are: Harry Janners, 30, of erating his car with only one headlight, one license tag and no multiple.
